BIOGRAPHY

Zachary Brewster, Sr. is an Author, Influential Speaker and HR Consultant. Zach is the author of "How to Get to the Other Side" Principles to Pursue Your Potential. This book was written to give people a clear guide to becoming the best version of themselves. Zach's Ted Talk "People Are the Problem", details the issues that many organizations face when they focus on Products, Processes and Profits but fail to focus on the People. Zach is the President and Chief Visionary Officer of The Bridge Builder, a firm that supports companies with Direct Placement, Staffing, Leadership Training, and Employee Engagement. They provide organizations with the tools required to interrupt cycles of chaos often created by the recruiting process while empowering them to redefine their perspectives surrounding talent retention. To accomplish this, The Bridge Builder has created an equation to make the workplace more effective: People-Problems= Productivity

Zach has a Bachelor's degree in Communications, a Master's degree in Biblical Exposition, he is a graduate of The Furman Diversity Leadership Institute, a certified HR Professional with a PHR and SHRM-CP accreditation and he's also a trained mediator with an expertise in Conflict Resolution.

Out of all of the work he does and the titles that he holds, his most important title is Father. He has three wonderful children which is what drives him to continue to work to change the world, so that he can leave a better version of the world for them.
